The Pitathurgh Commercial alludes in somewhat severe terms to the opinion expressed by us that should the Congressional policy of reconstruction be rejected by the South, the next Congress will re-organize the rebut States, and extend the right of suffrace in some form, either present or future, and either unversally or in part, to the colored cace. The reasons in favor of having this matter under the control of the people and taken Now that the questions of good water a the cleaning of theriver are salisfactorily ranged, the next great materials e the public interests, is the supply of gas. I propose in dwing propositions:

I. The exils of the present system.

II. The practicable remody for these swils

II. The practicable remody for thesis wells. It is hardly accessively even to discuss the question whether the present mode of emplying our people with gas is satisfactory to the public. You can scarcely mention the shiplest of gas to any citizen (unless the chances to own stock in the Gas Company, who will not express with great emphasis and carrestness his condemnation of the present company's operations.
